America's families have reached unsurpassed levels of prosperity with ingenuity and innovation. However, Washington continues to operate under the faulty policy of throwing more taxpayer money at inefficient programs. Washington needs more accountability, transparency, and leadership to manage out-of-control spending and a staggering multi-trillion dollar national debt, which is going to be passed on to our children and grandchildren. Taxpayer dollars need to be managed responsibly Congress.

{loadposition related}